

Sales Executive
Xynomix
Sandiacre
Competitive salary plus uncapped commission

Due to promotion, a superb opportunity has arisen for an ambitious and motivated Telephone Sales Executive to join a market leader in IT support and managed services.

Using your tenacity, professionalism and excellent communication skills, you will be making outbound calls to both private and public sector clients to develop relationships and secure business by working closely with the Account Management team.

This position offers genuine opportunities for career progression as we are looking for an ambitious individual who is able to learn quickly and achieve targets in order to advance them to an Account Manager role.

The ideal candidate will be a successful sales person adept at closing on the phone and able to work to individual KPIs and individual and team targets. That said sales experience is not essential, but the ability to demonstrate the key skills required a must.

In addition to a fantastic long-term career, we are offering a competitive starting salary with uncapped bonus, full training and the chance to work for a progressive and supportive employer who values its people and recognises and rewards success.
